TOPIC DESCRIPTIONS

What To Do With a Child?

When a baby is born, we're ready to do anything for them. By the time they're in 7th grade, we might be feeling different. What changed? What do we do with the evolving needs and challenges of growing and maturing children? Do we need an attitude adjustment?

Serving Well: Applying the Headship Order

School board members' wives often have talents, experience, and perspectives that the board needs. But this blessing is lost when husbands and wives do not properly fill their roles in the headship order. What guidelines will help husbands and wives properly fulfill their headship roles to make the input of the wife appropriate and useful to the school?

Serving Well: Managing a Busy Life

We all are busy, and getting busier. But what a tragedy when we spend our days consumed by things that aren't the most important! How can we manage our priorities to best serve our families, churches, and schools?

Resources for the Struggling Reader

Many of our schools have students that are struggling to read. Is your school aware of the growing number of effective resources for challenged readers?

Encouraging Patron Involvement

Does your school have apathetic patrons? Do you wish there was more enthusiasm for the work of the school in your community? This workshop will stir your thinking on how to go home and grow enthusiasm for your school.

Women's Workshop: A Wise Woman Buildeth Her House

Pro 14:1 says "Every wise woman buildeth her house, but the foolish plucketh it down with her hands." What habits build up and enhance your home and family, and avoid "plucking" it down?
